II.2.4) Description of the procurement:

With this tender competition, employment fund is looking for a software for virtual data storage with the requirements defined in procurement documents. Procurement includes software licenses and license maintenance.

The software is expected to act as virtual data storage, also known as data virtualization solution, providing fast connection mechanisms to vast number of different data sources without any needs for tailoring. It should include SQL data definition language for building layers of virtual real-time data views to the data sources within the virtual data storage. The software should be capable of implementing data access policy in virtual view layers incorporating end-user permissions from employment fund MS Active Directory. In addition, the product should be capable of replicating data from the virtual data warehouse views with MS SQL database as target storage and these replications can be scheduled and incremental. The product is expected to provide user-friendly and visual means for managing the data in the virtual data store.

Employment fund is looking for a unified off-the-shelf solution, which is modifiable and configurable product as such. The usability, configurability and flexibility of a user interface is also essential. Ease of use and general user experience is highly valued.
